Born in Grenoble (France) in 1999, Anna GARDE has been playing the cello since she was four.

She has been a cello prizewinner several times at the Vatelot-Rampal Competition and Mouans-Sartoux competition (first prize and first prize with congratulations).

Anna studied the cello at the Regional Conservatoires of Grenoble and Toulon (France).

Then she moved to Paris to work with Helen Dautry and graduated at 14 (DEM: Musical Studies Diploma).

Then in September 2014, Anna moved to London and worked with Penny Driver and in September 2015 she entered the Junior Academy (JRAM) still with Penny Driver.

In December 2015, Anna was offered a place with awards in both schools: the Guildhall School of Music and the Royal College of Music. Since September 2016, she is studying a BMus program at the Guildhall School in the class of Louise Hopkins.

In June 2016, Anna completed a Musical Baccalauréat (music is the main subject with maths and physics) with distinction.

She has been performing many concerts and will play again this year in France in chamber music and solo recital.

She would like to become a professional musician. She knows that studying in London gives opportunities to prepare her future as a soloist, orchestra or chamber music player or teacher and she would like to carry on developing her skills.
